A GAME WELL SPOILED.

THE CHERUBS LEAVE THE FIELD AND THE COLTS GET THE GAME.

An Ugly Act Brings the Game Abruptly to An End. The Afternoon Winds Up in Quarrels, Disorder and Discontent.

"Mon Dieu," feelingly remarked Jean "Mon Dicu, teelingly remarked Jean Pierre O'Rourke, that slender, non-chal-ant Frenchman, as he pulled off his sweater after the game, yerterday, "Them Cherubs nearly scotched us this eva." The remark was so pithy, and withal so ingenuous that graceful, lithe-limbed Neddie Tate, who was standing near by, rejoined: "Ach Gott! Du hast recht, dose mens dey did knock our recht, dose mens day did knock our socks off-aindt it?"

Thus spake the players, and in a few winged words told the story of the struggle. What a game that of yesterday might have been had the players but taken a draught of the milk of human kindness before donning their suits.

The occasion was austiclous. When, at

The occasion was auspicious. When, at five, the Colts and Cherubs Joined battle, five, the Colts and Cherubs Joined battle, the sun was shiring on six hundred happy bleachers and three policemen, and the air was as balmy as the smile of the politician on election day. It is true that Jupiter Pluvius rested his chin on the northern abattment of the belt-line bridge, and threatened to visit Forest Hill, which threat he subsequently performed. But nobody paid any attention to J. Pluvius, and up to the seventh informed. But nobody paid any attention to J. Pluvius, and up to the seventh inning there was as pretty a game as one might wish to see.

Sir Patrick Verbose Zeigler and Major Lemons were both hit freely, the Cherubs bunching five hits in the fourth innings and getting a strong lead on the Colts.

In the seventh inning, when the Vir-In the seventh lining, when the Virginias had three men on bases with only one out, Lumsden drove the sphere to centre, and Tate scored on the hit. Leftwich attempted to do likewise, but Hodges threw to the plate so accurately that it looked as if Leftwich would be touched. At this injecture, Neddy, Tata that it looked as it Leftwich would be touched. At this juncture Neddy Tate, in that playful way which is characteristic of bim, and which most people call "solled ball," deliberately shoved Foster as the ball reached him, and caused him to drop it allowing Leftwich to score. Then came chaos and confusion. Prof. Horace F. Smith, who was umpiring, did not see Tate shove Foster, an refused to call Leftwich out. This raised the ire did not see Tate shove Foster, an refused to call Leftwich out. This raised the freof Barley Kain, and he, the umpire, the Messrs. Bradley and all the players field an excited pow-wow. But Smith was firm, and on the Cherubs declining to play, gave the same to the Virginias. Score: 9 to 9 in favor of Virginias.

After the same was over, there was a little (wordy) scrap on the field—and then it rained eats and dows.

stamps as an exceptionally fine umpire Not only does he display much judge ment in calling strikes and balls, but he is impartial and intelligent in all his de eislons, and is very positive. Petersburg Shuts the College Out. Petersburg Snuts the College Out.

PETERSBIRO, VA., Sept. 2.—This afternoon's base ball game between the Petersburgs and College teams was an uneren one from start to finish, the Petersburg beys winning by the score of 9 to 0. The home team won the game in the first inning by bunching their his and secular three curs. in the first ining by bunching their mas and scoring three runs. Anthony pitched the first six innings for the College boys, and was pounded all over the field. In accition to his being hit hard, he was very wild and kept Eahen busy chasing the ball. In the seventh inning Jones was substituted and pitched very ef-tectively. No run being made while he fectively. No run being made while he was in the box. The Collegians fielded very loosely and could not bit at all. Lench pitched for the farmers and was so successful that not a single hit was made off his delievry and Kelfer caught him in fine style, not having an error charged against him. The home team batted hard making fourteen hits, four of which were two baggers. Junie Quarles p'ayed a beautiful game at second, having thirteen chances and accepting them all.

COUNSEL TO MEN OF LARGE AFFAIRS.

During such a period of financial disturbance as the present, you find it necessary to concentrate all your talents and energies on the management of your affairs.

You cannot safely delegate the work to another. At this time any one else, no matter what his ability, would be unable to successfully conduct your business, or protect your investments, as well as you can.

But there is a CHANCE that you may at any moment be FORCED thus to turn your affairs over to the management of another-namely, in the event of your death.

Remember that executors often think more about avoiding risks and protecting themselves than of carrying out the spirit of the testator's views. They generally lack experience in the business they are trying to

This inexperience and possible lack of interest may cost ten or fifteen per cent. of the value of your estate,

You cannot but recognize the truth of this statement; nevertheless, you can guard against this loss by assuring your life for the amount which in your judgment your executors would waste in winding up your estate.

You can easily, by economizing a little in your living expenses, pay from your income the premium on a policy for $50,000 or $100,000, issued by the strongest financial institution of its kind in the world, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, 120 Broadway, New York.

If you then chance to die, your executor will be INSTANTLY in the possession of $50,000 or $100,000 of CASH IN HAND; and ready money will have a FOURFOLD

On the other hand, if you live, and take your assurance (for example) on the twenty-year Tontine Endowment plan, you will Yourself reap a rich reward on maturity of the policy.

The following is an illustration of one out of many such policies maturing in 1893:

EXAMPLE.

LETTER FROM A POLICY-HOLDER IN THE EQUITABLE.

In response to your request that I should give you for publica-tion the results of Policy No. 81,524, which matured June 2, 1893, I beg to make the following statement: The policy was for $1,000, issued twenty years ago on the Endowment plan. The amount paid in premiums was $953.60. Among other options the following methods of settlement are

First—Cash surrender value, $1.597.04; equal to a return of all the premiums paid, with interest exceeding 6 per cent. per annum. Second—A paid-up policy of life assurance for $3,858. Third—A life annuity of $112.58. R. J. RILEY. June 2, 1893. N. B .- The writer of the above letter has applied to the Equi-
